There is a military airfield, known as Hurko Airfield, about two kilometers south of Medyka (850/V65), south of the Medyka-Przemysl railway line. The local name for the airfield is taken from the village of Hurko where the airfield is located. In the Borek-Karczmary region south of the airfield there are underground ammunition dumps built into the hillocks there. They are connected by a branch line with the Medyka railway station.
